APA's
Ethical & Psychological Awards
The Nomination Form

The APA

Ethical & Psychological Awards

We aim to empower and encourage businesses, charities and all organisations to work to improve the psychological wellbeing of their teams. These awards are intended to recognise and celebrate this work and achievement. No more hoop-jumping or box-ticking.

APA's ethos is to drive solutions that work for the benefit of those in need, at the time of need. We seek to encourage growth of best practice and effective mental health support in the workplace.

The APA Awards Panel is made up of therapeutic professionals, business consultants and HR professionals.

The Categories

Wellbeing Excellence in the Workplace

Nominations for this award are open to businesses, charities and organisations, that are able to demonstrate their systematic processes and responses to concerns of psychological wellbeing. The Awards Panel will verify and endorse those applications or offer the business a comprehensive Support Framework that allows for enhanced support for their employees.

The APA Contribution Award

Businesses, charities and organisations are invited to nominate individuals from within their teams, who have made an outstanding contribution to the development and improvement of psychological wellbeing in the workplace.

The Youth Engagement Award

This Award recognises the dedicated efforts of Companies, Organisations, Charities and individuals, to enhance, develop and grow the positive Mental health of young people around the world.

The Adrian Pennington Award

Recognising the Future Talent of the Psychological Sector. APA celebrates those stand out students that not only embrace the teachings of the past, are eager to learn in the present, but are also the 'Torch bearers' of the future.

The Directors Award

This will be awarded by the APA Directors to individuals for outstanding contributions to the advancement of psychological understanding and professional development.

The APA 20:20 Vision Award

The APA Award for Ethical & Psychological best practice in the Workplace.

Every Ethical & Psychological Award winner will be eligible for the Annual APA 20:20 Vision Award.

The Ethical & Psychological Award for Wellbeing Excellence in the Workplace

Ethical and Psychological Wellbeing is the next level of Mental Health understanding.

For a long time, businesses, charities and organisations have been led by outside agencies, in regard to the appropriate response to incidents, challenges and issues around mental health in the workplace.

This award is designed to allow and encourage effective development of processes, for positive and functional responses that increase the positive mental health of teams and to support team members in times of need.

Without prescribing a generic framework for businesses, charities or organisations, that APA has no detailed or working knowledge of, is, in our belief, a smarter way of allowing these groups to identify need and develop effective solutions for their working environment and the people they work with.

The Wellbeing Excellence in the Workplace Award is open to ANY business, charity or organisation that:

- Actively provides its teams with mental health support.
- Has developed effective responses to issues concerning mental health.
- Operates positive working practices to reduce mental health challenges.
- Has taken measures to improve the overall psychological wellbeing of its teams.

Yes, that's right, we are not going to tell you, how to respond to the needs within your workplace. You know what works for you and your teams. APA wishes to have the examples of excellence recognised and celebrated.

Submissions for the Wellbeing Excellence in the Workplace Award carries a cost as the submission must be verified and assessed by The Awards Panel.

Any submission that The Awards Panel feel can benefit from their knowledge, experience and guidance, in relation to enhancing the workplace wellbeing for the submitting party and their teams, will receive an Ethical & Psychological Support Guide.

Recipients of The Award will automatically be Finalists in the Ethical & Psychological 20:20 Vision Award in this Category. All finalists receive Digital recognition at no cost. APA does offer an Elevated Recognition package including a Physical Award and a featured article in The APA Newsletter and Video promotion on the APA YouTube Channel.

The Contribution Award for Enhanced Wellbeing

Businesses, charities and organisations will always benefit from the driving commitment and passion of its team members.

Often the contribution of individuals can be overlooked in the development of new processes, protocols and workplace responses to issues of mental health.

The APA Contribution Award invites businesses, charities, and organisations to nominate individuals from within their teams, who have made an outstanding contribution to the development and improvement of Psychological wellbeing.

At APA we acknowledge the importance of teams in developing and enhancing wellbeing, we also understand that in many environments a single person can be the catalyst that sparks that development. This award celebrates those individuals, their commitment and focus to bring about positive change in the workplace, for the benefit of the whole workplace. This award allows businesses, charities and organisations, to recognise and celebrate the innovation, creativity, consideration and foresight of an individual, beyond the confines of their own working environment. This promotes best practice, stimulates development and shows the dedication of the management team, to acknowledge and celebrate the efforts, taken to improve mental health.

Yes, that's right, we are not going to tell you, who should be rewarded or not. You know whose contribution has benefited you and your teams. You know the impact a compassionate, inspired and motivated individual has had on your teams. When these energies are focused on the development of positive wellbeing in the workplace, amazing results can be achieved, not only for your teams but the overall business as well. APA wishes to have the examples of this focus and commitment to improving the workplace wellbeing, recognised and celebrated.

Any submission that The Awards Panel feel can benefit from their knowledge, experience and guidance, in relation to enhancing the workplace wellbeing for the submitting party and their teams, will receive an Ethical & Psychological Support Guide.

Recipients of The Contribution Award will automatically be Finalists in the Ethical & Psychological 20:20 Vision Award in this Category. All finalists receive Digital recognition at no cost. APA does offer an Elevated Recognition package including a Physical Award and a featured article in The APA Newsletter and Video promotion on the APA YouTube Channel.

The Youth Engagement Award

This Award recognises the dedicated efforts of Companies, Organisations, Charities and individuals, to enhance, develop and grow the positive Mental health of young people around the world.

As the world responds to recent events, it is crucial that efforts are focused on ensuring young people are included in the development, and delivery of solutions just as, is the need to ensure the psychological well-being of young people is protected, nurtured and allowed to flourish.

APA is delighted to showcase the outstanding work being done to support youth engagement in the community. Nominations for The Youth Engagement Award are open to Organisations, Charities, Community Groups, and individuals.

The Adrian Pennington Award

Recognising the Future Talent of the Psychological Sector. APA celebrates those stand out students that not only embrace the teachings of the past, are eager to learn in the present, but are also the 'Torch bearers' of the future.

The late Adrian Pennington served the therapeutic community for over 30 years. A phenomenal practitioner who had a passion for the power of therapy. Adrian authored The Student Guide to Counselling & Psychotherapy Approaches as a reflection of his commitment to enhancing the student experience. Adrian dedicated much of his professional career to supporting, guiding and supervising the talent of the therapeutic community.

APA's CEO Vonnie Crosbie says of Adrian, "Adrian was a wonderful teacher who encouraged me to allow the ripples of his impact on myself to spread to others as I do. You couldn't ask for a wiser more caring therapist than Adrian Pennington. May he RIP."

APA is proud to present the Adrian Pennington Award to those Students that shine as the Future Talent of the Psychological Sector.

Nominations for this Award can be made by Education and Placement Providers only.
